

A Letter to Educators & the IEP Team at School

To Whom It May Concern:

NAME	has a hi	story of wandering, mean	ing they may leave a safe area or wander away from a respo	nsible caregiver	NAME	may wander for a variety of reasons which ar	e often goalùdirected	(i.e. communicate or obta	in a want/need, seek or avoid sensory input). It is reporte	d that at least . 9% of	people with Autism will w	ander at least once in their lifetime. Wandering poses	a serious risk of injury	or death – especially rela	ted to traffic and waterÙelated incidents. Because of these risks, safety precautions and preventative supports are important to be addressed by	NAME	is IEP and school te	am.

Leaving	NAME	unattende	d puts them at an incre	ased risk for wandering and potentially c	langerous circumstance	es. To keep	NAME	safe while under your instru	uctional care, there mus	t be appropriate su	oports in place.

Some safety considerations for team discussion and planning:

- .. Historical wandering scenarios:
- 2. Known patterns of wandering:
 - a. Why?
 - b. When? _____
 - c. Where?
 - d. Why, if known?
- 3. Precipitating factors (things that may happen immediately before wandering, potentially triggering wandering or signaling that wandering may soon occur):

A Letter to Educators & the IEP Team at School

- 4. What has been known to increase likelihood of wandering?
- 5. What has been effective in decreasing likelihood of wandering?
- 6. What is the schoolis protocol for wandering events?
 - a. When wandering occurs from a schoolÙenvironment
 - b. When wandering occurs during an offÙsitævent (ex: field trip)
- 7. What level of adult supervision is required to keep ______ safe?
- 8. What additional layers of protection are needed? (ex: visuals, direct instruction, locked doors, alarms, physical barriers)

Signed,

Parent/Guardian